This part of increasing stability of the application is the key to honest leagues ahead I don't know why but I'm definitely glad how well the game plays here. The tablet has a lot of screen real estate given its current purpose, and annoying but tone flashlight. The only mistake I found was that I didn't find the battery of the radio. Overall nice job! This is actually an amazing FNAF Fangame. Very good, especially for a Mobile Port. It's hard, but I really like it. One of the only slightly better graphics I hope to update. When I first started playing, it was so sweet! Said. But then I watched a video on the PC version, and accordingly, I think there is definitely room for improvement. Overall, I love this game and I'm really hoping for a release on Mobile 2. Great, but I think your mind in the game needs to be corrected. Sometimes animatronics catch me in the closet even if they don't see me. And the game is too short. I understand what is in the pc version but if this were more for the game. You're also going to make case Animatronics 2 on iOS ports. Please respond. Because I'm excited to see it on iOS. Application Support Privacy Policy
